"I Hope That Other Mothers May Learn Its Value as I Have"

GRATEFUL PRAISE FOR FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Writing from Rock Island, Ill., a grateful mother says: "I miss Father John's Medicine when I am out of it more than anything else from my medicine chest. I have it in hand summer and winter. I give it to my two children whose ailments it does not contain. I hope that other mothers may learn to know its value as I have. (Signed) Mrs. H. Biehl, 1004 Eleventh Ave." Thousands of mothers know from experience the value of Father John's Medicine as a tissue and strength builder at this time of year. It is all pure and wholesome nourishment which the system easily takes up and changes into fighting strength to ward off disease. Because it does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs Father John's Medicine is safe for children as well as older people. Get what you call for. Advertisement.

LEMBERG IS SAVED, SO BERLIN THINKS

Success Is Claimed for Germans After Days of Severe Fighting.

BERLIN, October 26, by wireless to Sayville.—Reviewing the battle between the Austro-Germans and the Russians on the River Narayuvka, in Galicia, the military critic of the Overseas News Agency writes: "The battle of Narayuvka, after seven days of violent fighting, has terminated completely in Germany's favor. The renewed Russian attempt to reach Lemberg, the Galician capital, once more has failed, in spite of gigantic sanguinary sacrifices. The Russians in this sector advanced across the Narayuvka in the form of a bend about two kilometers deep and four kilometers long. Within this bend were the dominating heights of 345 and 310, which offered an excellent base for the Russian offensive to advance."

"The Russians on October 15 made three attacks without success on the front between Lipka and Skomroch. A new attack, which was still more violent, followed on the 16th, when 33,000 men were sent forward. Soldiers from Pomerania and Brandenburg repulsed this attack in sanguinary fashion. The Germans then in turn attacked. They captured thirty-two officers and 1,337 men and took the Russian position for a depth of one kilometer."

Storm Russian Positions.
"On October 19 the Pomeranians took height 345 by storm, including the Russian entrenchments, reaching the trenches situated to the south of the height. Many machine guns were captured and fifteen Russian officers and 1,760 men were taken prisoners."

"On October 20, height 310 was stormed. Strong Russian reserves made a counter attack against height 310 and the Sancy work, but they were unable to stay on the west bank of the Narayuvka, being definitely thrown to the other bank."

"This second great Narayuvka battle did not help the Russians to approach their aim—Lemberg. The contrary happened. They lost the strong bridgehead position on the Narayuvka. The river bend, the heights 345 and 310, the field entrenchments and the network of trenches now are covered with Russian corpses."

"The Russians during the seven days' battle lost more than 5,000 men as well as a large number of machine guns, mine throwers and other material. The 41st Russian division was completely routed, while the 3d Finnish division was almost annihilated, only a small number of these troops remaining."

Check Teutonic Attacks.
PETROGRAD, October 26, via London, 1:10 p.m.—Russian troops in the wooded Carpathians are successfully withstanding Teutonic assaults, the war office announced today. It reports the repulse of an attack on the height northwest of Capul mountain in that region.

The announcement follows:
"In the direction of Zlochovin, in the region of Zvyen, the enemy attacked with small forces, but was repulsed. In the wooded Carpathians the enemy launched an attack with a force of two companies on the height of Yersy northwest of Capul mountain. This assault was arrested by our fire."

TOO MANY GIRLS THERE FOR A BOY LIKE JIMMIE
"Mighta Stood Busted Dome" for First-Aid Class, "But Not Them Eyes."

The first-aid class, now being held under the joint auspices of the American National Red Cross and the Navy League in Washington, doesn't even know his name. The Star does, but isn't going to tell. So we'll just call him "Jimmie."

Jimmie is a messenger boy and a near-hero. He has freckles, has been known to call successfully to the elusive Phoebe Five in second avenue, and a pal of his has vouchsafed information that "he's a bold wif his mitta." Ee that as it may he has one stirring accomplishment. He knows when to quit.

The first-aid class wanted a patient upon whom to practice lately acquired skill in the art of scientific bandaging. The doctor in charge, being a man of ingenuity, called a well known telephone number and summoned Jimmie. Jimmie whistled on his way as he answered the call. Maybe he didn't know what was ahead. Maybe he's more than a near-hero. Anyway, he whistled the popular melody which assured those in his immediate vicinity that "this is the life."

The doctor ushered him into the classroom, cap in hand. He was given a chair and removers vaguely sitting down. Forty pairs of casual eyes of gray and brown and blue—"kiss, feller, an' only the doc and me"—were raised and swept him appraisingly. He only remembers the rest vaguely.
